I know not what record of sin exists in the other world; but this I do know, that I never was as mean as to despise a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because he was black.

ONE REASON AGAINST IT.

In the lively strife of local and state politics, there is danger that principles involved in a campaign may be lost sight of in party and personal preferences. This is true of the present campaign in Berkshire.

There is one question coming before the people for decision November 5 that deserves more discussion than it is receiving. It is that of woman suffrage and whether the people of Massachusetts will express approval or disapproval of woman's being allowed the right of participation in municipal elections. The proposition to more than double the voters in the municipalities of this commonwealth is one of tremendous and far-reaching importance. It is important not so much because of the increase of the number of voters that would result as because of the social consequences involved and the nature and present disposition of women. The great question of reconstruction which puzzled and baffled the ablest statesmen of this country twenty-five years ago had as its knottiest problem that of the extension of suffrage to the blacks and its probable results. The question of woman suffrage, now pressing to an issue in Massachusetts, is as important to this individual state as was the negro suffrage question to the nation as a whole at the close of the civil war. It is a question of gigantic importance, and its discussion is now pre-eminently in order.

Arrayed on both sides of this question are eminent minds and honesty of opinion. There is room for the widest difference of opinion, and honest and good people are on both sides of the suffrage contention. While we read an address against the recommendation of woman's suffrage signed, as the first of a long list of eminent Massachusetts men, by William E. Russell we hear the earnest and learned advocacy of woman's voting rights by Dr. Bascom. And so the divergence of opinion runs. But we cannot help believing the weight of the argument, under existing conditions, is against woman's suffrage.

Woman's widest field for good is in the home. As mother, or sister, or sweetheart, and not as politician, she is best and most influential for good. Here is the essential fact in the question, nor is it mere sentiment. Home is superlatively woman's sphere, home is the greatest factor in the world, and the slightest condition that takes woman's mind and feelings from the home is a detriment to all humanity. God and Nature have made women in mind and body different from men, fitted for other ends. Woman is not for the harsh conflicts of the world. Her Creator marked her indubitably as one requiring the protection of the home, and as one whose duties are at the cradle, in the nursery, and in the fire-side circle. She is not made up in her nature for the street, nor the polling booth. If any one thinks so, let him call his ideal of a mother or sister to his mind and then read this report of an eminent authority regarding the scenes at a Kansas city election. It reads:

Constantly the women desiring to vote increased in enthusiasm and numbers, until finally people who had been friends and neighbors for years would not speak, and the whole history of the campaign, with that of his ancestors and followers, was discussed in every household, even before its youngest members. Women caught the fever of politics and it raged high and furious. For over a month before election day, the whole dirty stream of politics flowed over my heartstone, washing away all the quiet happiness and peace which had reigned there before. And as a climax, on election day we saw our wives and daughters driving through the city, picking up women of the lowest possible class and morality, and then walking with their arms around them to the polls to see that they voted rightly. Every means of intimidation, bribery and cajolery which had been used by men was employed unhesitatingly by women on election day.

Human nature, man's and woman's alike, revolt at such a picture. It is opposed to right, it is opposed to the best and tenderest sentiments in the human breast. The advocates of woman's suffrage try to disparage the fact that there is a relation of the sexes that oppose woman's voting. But this Kansas picture is sufficient to establish the fact that woman in the home is better and more useful for good than she is in any political campaign.

One certain reason against woman's voting and her possible entanglement in the course and heated controversy of a campaign is, that as long as there is a 'home, sweet home' in the land, as long as there is a cradle to be rocked, as long as maternity is to be gentle and devoted, as long as childhood and advancing womanhood and manhood have need of the indisputable watchfulness and direction of a loving mother, just as long the mothers and possible mothers of Massachusetts need no distracting power or enforced duty like that of politics and the ballot.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Berkshire Democrat, which is carrying on a dreary and gloomy support of Sheriff Crosby's candidacy—alone and lonesome in Northern Berkshire—in its yesterday's issue tried to make a point for Crosby out of a Transcript editorial. We had said that the question for the people to decide between Greenhalge and Williams was one of trusting a good record already made or one promised to be made. The Democrat at once says our argument is applicable to the sheriff campaign and in favor of Mr. Crosby. Stop, esteemed contemporary and consider that Charles W. Fuller has already made a record of sheriff duties, though not holding that office, equal to the record of any officer in the state. Yes, we say, choose the man with the best record in the sheriff as well as gubernatorial contest.

Charles E. West, the Democratic candidate for the senate in this district, has a hard fight before him and he knows it, but he is a fighter and never turns his hand to anything that he does not go at with might and main. He will make Senator Lawrence hostile to keep up with him. —Pittsfield Journal. Does our Democratic contemporary really admit that Mr. West has "a hard fight before him" to beat Senator Lawrence? We wish type could express laughter! And in the next paragraph the Journal says Sheriff Crosby will "scoop" the county. Keep a stiff upper lip, keep trying to believe you are yet in it, keep up your prophecies, and the morning after election you may die of heart disease, going out with the bad reputation of journalistic stuffed prophet.

Tom Reed's big boom was sent up in Boston's Music hall Wednesday night amid volleys of cheers and thunders of applause, says the Traveler. Reformer Roosevelt eulogized the great ex-Speaker, and said more praiseworthy things that will make big Tom blush like the red, red rose when he reads them. Governor Greenhalge, of course, made a grand speech, and Roger Wolcott showed that he knows how to hit straight from the shoulder, in an oratorical way. When McKinley's name was mentioned some of the Ohio man's friends made a demonstration, but it was like the babble of a child compared to the roar of a thousand lions when the first speaker mentioned the name of T. B. Reed.

There comes a settlement of the vexed public and parochial school question from Manitoba that will excite interest at this time. It has been decided that the parochial schools may be re-opened, but must be supported entirely by the Catholics, who are authorized to use a special machinery of taxation for that purpose. Catholics are free to choose to which schools they will send their children, and those who prefer the parochial schools will be exempt from paying taxes for the public school system.

The movement for C. W. Fuller of North Adams for high sheriff amounts to an uprising in Berkshire county. In North Adams, where Mr. Fuller is best known, the Fuller sentiment knows no party bounds, and conservative estimate indicates that he will come out of that city with 1,200 majority. Great Barrington takes a special interest in Mr. Fuller's candidacy as he is a native of the place and has been a credit to the district since his residence in other parts of the county. —Great Barrington Gazette.

Richmond and Keen! Vote for them. They are men of experience and ability. They are Republicans, regularly and honorably nominated, and that is enough to deserve Republican support. Petty jealousy and cheap talk and cajoling ought not to influence a single vote, Republican or otherwise.

Since the Duke of Marlborough could not import his wedding gifts free of duty, he is probably the hottest free-trader in America. It is just horrid, don't-cher-know.

A word to every Republican: Support your ticket; don't be button-holed into any other course.

Do you want Republican or Democratic legislation in this state? Vote as you prefer.

THE EDITOR'S SHEARS

FOR TODAY.

What would the world be if the good ceased striving?

Did no one stand for justice, no one say I am for virtue; but the truth betray, Raising no protest, silently conniving? Who ever lived true life by such contriving?

Who has not longed after some dreary day, For night to drop its curtain on the day?

With silent benediction all things shriving? 'Tis not by irony men live; we need To know who are the mourners, who have tears;

Who would give life for country or for creed, Not quench his own and others' fire in sneers.

Ah, God! from street to street we sometimes go As men in masks, and know not friend from foe.

LIQUOR LAWS DEFIED.

Drochton Pastor Arraigns Authorities For Altered Indifference.

Certain Dealers Said to Pay Cash For Protection.

Clubrooms Got a Timely Tip When Raids Are Contemplated.

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 28.—Rev. F. A. Warfield delivered an address at the City theatre last evening, at the invitation of prominent citizens, upon the non-enforcement of the liquor law. The speaker claimed that Brockton was no longer a dry town. Last January and February 20 search warrants were sworn out, one against a well-known clubroom, while during the two months eight clubrooms were raided and some of the managers convicted. He came to the conclusion that the law was not enforced because of the indifference of the authorities.

He showed that the police were charged to enforce the law, and quoted from the records to show that in the earlier months of the present year places in the Bush were repeatedly raided, while other sections of the town received comparative immunity. He declared that the illegal liquor dealers made a statement that they had paid $50 a month for protection. The speaker said that dealers expected protection.

He said he was amazed that orders were issued simply telling the managers of the clubs that they must stop business. He said that it was known when the liquor squad were sent to tell the managers of certain clubs that they must close. He wanted to know why clubrooms were notified, while poor widows were not.

Going into details, Mr. Warfield reviewed the development of the liquor situation in this city. He cited the declaration of Mayor Whipple in his last inaugural, to the effect that the liquor law would be Centrally and impartially enforced. The existing state of non-enforcement of the law he attributed to the indifference of the authorities.

Rev. Mr. Warfield said that during the first three months of this year 22 search warrants were issued, only three of which were for parties on Main street. Twenty-eight of the warrants were for dwellings, and the others were for a stable and store-rooms. The fact that the houses raided were in the section called the "Bush" was cited in argument that there had been one law for that section and another for Main street.

Rev. Mr. Warfield said that a former notorious liquor dealer made the statement not long ago that he had paid during this year $50 a month for protection. He had not been disturbed until recently, and then an official his position

To Secure His Release from a sentence which was imposed upon his conviction.

When an expression on one occasion was delivered goods to this man, a public officer was passing and the expressman noticed the fact. The man said that it was all right, for he was paying $50 a month for protection. These instances, said the speaker, were but samples of many which might be cited and can be proved.

Another significant fact alleged by Rev. Mr. Warfield is that the keepers of certain clubrooms have been unmolested until public sentiment was aroused, and then police officers were sent to notify them that they must stop selling liquor.

He said that he was told of a case which had been notified to stop their traffic, and known, and also the names of the persons by whom the notices were sent. No officers were sent to notify the kitchen bar-rooms on Grove street. No courage was required to arrest the Irish women who kept them, and that might be the fearless enforcement spoken of by the mayor.

May Be a Murder.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 23.—At Madawaska, a man named Langdon had a quarrel with William Hammond. Hammond picked up a club and struck Langdon a terrible blow on the head. Blood gushed from the injured man's nose and ears, and he lay insensible for a long time. Hammond was arrested and bound over for his appearance at the next term of the supreme judicial court to be held in Carleton. Langdon is likely to die from his injuries.

A Crazy Man's End.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 28.—Daniel Wiley of Gorham was found wandering about the streets of this city in an insane condition. The man, who is 35 years old and unmarried, was sent to the almshouse and confined in a cell. Yesterday morning the attendants found Wiley hanging in his cell by his drawers. He had over $100 on his person at the time of his death.

Faithful Dog Guarded Body.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28.—Leroy Nelligan, of Ludlow, aged 15, went hunting Friday with a gun and dog. As he did not return, searching parties were organized, and on Saturday the boy was found half a mile from his home dead. One side of his head was blown off and the face scorched with powder. His dog had remained by him all night.

Receiver Asked For.

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 28.—A bill in equity against the Maine Mutual Life Insurance company of Middleford has been filed in the supreme court of York county, asking for an injunction against the company and the appointment of a receiver. The Maine Mutual is an assessment company. Its outstanding liabilities are said to be far in excess of its assets.

To Start an Agitation.

HAVENHILL, Mass., Oct. 28.—A great mass meeting was held in City hall yesterday to start an agitation to protest against the lynching outrages at the south. Mayor Jewett presided. District Attorney Moody presented a set of resolutions denouncing the outrages and calling for the agitation for a protest and action on the part of congress.

Bought at a Bargain.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 28.—The majestic royal Vienna vase, by Wagner, which took the grand diploma at the Paris exposition in 1877, where it was purchased for $10,000, was sold Saturday, at auction, to Mrs. Stephen H. Briggs for $1000.

Mill Workers' Grievances.

AMSBURY, Mass., Oct. 28.—General Secretary Cahill of the National Textile union addressed the local Weavers' union, yesterday, called to discuss grievances against the Hamilton mills. Cahill claims that the union has not kept its list long that there should be no black-listing and that wages should be raised when the market warranted. He hopes to settle the trouble without a strike.

The Crimson's Victory.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 28.—Fighting desperately to the last, Cornell went down before the heavier and stronger Harvard football eleven Saturday afternoon, by a score of 25 to 0. It was a clean, splendid game, without a semblance of slugging or brutality, and the new rules, on their first real trial of the year, worked like a charm.

KILLED CITY MARSHAL.

A Farmer's Rash Act Leads to Stirring Scenes In an Ohio Town.

Mob Stormed a Jail For the Purpose of Lynching.

Two Men Killed On Sight in a Desperate Battle Which Followed.

PUFFIN, O., Oct. 28.—Lila Martin, a farmer, living a short distance from here, threatened to kill Ezra Smith, a neighbor. City Marshal Shultz and Policeman Sweeney went to his house to arrest him last Wednesday afternoon. Martin swore that he would never be taken alive. The officers tried to reason with him, but to no purpose. When Martin's attention was attracted for an instant by a noise outside, the marshal sprang upon him and grasped the rifle. Martin, growing desperate, discharged one hand and pulled his revolver. The other three officers, all the while taking effect in the marshal's body, killing him. Martin was subsequently arrested.

This city is shocked over the attempt to lynch Martin early yesterday morning. Whisky had been indulged in until the mob were more like blood-thirsty wolves than human beings.

The report was current that a crowd of farmers from Hopewell township were coming to the town and organizing on the outskirts of the town, and the attack was expected to be made by them. But instead it was done by fell who had been circulating in the vicinity of the jail all Saturday evening, and the police made no effort to quiet them.

These matters went on until about 1:15 a.m. Six men came out of the jail, and about 50 feet from the jail, in a moment about 20 others joined them. Then a sharp whistle was heard, and out of an alley on the opposite side of the street rushed about 30 more, the leaders carrying a rope and several sledge hammers, with which to accomplish their work.

The Attack on the Jail.

As the mob made the rush toward the jail, they emitted roars that were blood-curdling. A squad of policemen who had stationed themselves on the street were whisked to one side. Officer Keller was struck on the head with a sledge and killed brutally. He was carried home unconscious, and is hovering between life and death. Officer Fisher was thrown against a brick wall and partially stunned, and Officer Hennessey was tumbled over in the grass and kept there by a ruffian who held a murderous looking club over him and threatened death if he did not lie still. The other officers were treated in the same way.

The mob went direct to the side entrance and commenced the onslaught on the door with their sledges. They made no demand for the keys. Michael Schmidt then wielded the sledge. He was one of the drunken agitators who appeared early in the morning. The door was broken in, and the mob rushed in. With each blow the fury of the crowd increased.

When the entrance was gained, there was a wild rush and the hall was filled with excited men. Sheriff Vannest and three men stood in the opposite end. He appealed to them to disperse, but the men only grew fiercer. The entrance to the corridor is first protected by a heavy sheet iron door. The lock was broken off with a few blows.

Bullets Flayed Harve.

Then it was that the guards who were in that portion began to fire. At first they shot over the rioters' heads. The guards may not have been fired by them until the attacking party had fired through the grating first. Henry Matscher, the first man killed, was the one who carried the rope. He was shot through the left temple, the ball coming out on the right side, and he died instantly. Then Chris Matz received a bullet through the heart. He was also picked up dead.

This awful determination of the guards averted the would-be lynchers, and they left the place, cursing and vowing that they would return. A young Italian laborer, left with the intention of getting dynamite to blow up the building, but he did not get a chance to do so. While in the midst of the attack, Vinnone rushed upon the daughter of the sheriff and threatened to kill her. Another fellow held a revolver close to the heart of Andrew Greer, a one-armed son-in-law of the sheriff, and pulled the trigger, but it missed fire, and the next instant the fist of Greer felled the would-be assassin to the floor.

The sheriff's family were upstairs, and one of the mob seeing them at the head of the stairs, rushed viciously at them, but some one threw him headlong to the bottom. Between 8 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning, after the mob had moved farther down the street, Martin was handcuffed, taken through a side door and then to a side alley, where a carriage was waiting. Police Captain Walker and Officer Sweeney took him to Sandusky county.

Sunday Scenes.

Citizens viewed the scene of the tragedy yesterday by hundreds. Many people who called did not know the prisoner had been taken away, and at 10 o'clock a crowd numbering hundreds started to make another attack, but wiser counsel prevailed. Finally, to pacify them, one of their number who knew the murderer was allowed to search the building. He did not find the prisoner and so informed the crowd, but they refused to believe him. Then company 16 of the Second regiment of militia of this city was called out to guard the building.

Yesterday afternoon the crowd again surrounded the place. They became so determined that a committee of six citizens again searched the building from cellar to garret. Among the party was Mayor Rex, and when they had finished the search he appeared on the front steps of the building, and in behalf of the committee, said the man could not be found from Sandusky county, spite to the crowd also. They could not help but be satisfied, and the greater part dispersed.

In response to the governor's orders, company 1 of the Sixteenth regiment, O. N. G., of 35 men; company D, Sixteenth regiment, with 45 men, and companies G and I of Kenton arrived early last evening and a strict guard will be kept for several days. Many will threaten to lynch the sheriff and to kill the guards who have been called in to help them, but no serious trouble when the excitement has cooled down.

Adjutant General Howe and Colonel J. A. Kunt came with the Kenton special. Over 200 guardsmen are here.

Fourth Witness Gone.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 28.—Anxious Pugliese, who was expected to be an important witness against Joseph Calo, has disappeared. Calo is charged with the murder of Mareland Pugliese. Anonius was a cousin of the murdered man, and the fourth witness for the state that has been spirited away.

St. Onge's Great Feat.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Oct. 28.—Fred St. Onge broke the record for climbing Corey hill by doing it in 2m. 30s., beating the previous record, held by E. Benson since 1891, by 53s. Corey hill is 2100 feet long. The contest was from a standing start.

THE PITZEL MURDERS.

Furnish the Basis For the Trial of H. H. Holmes at Philadelphia.

Case Will Be Pushed as Speedily as Possible.

Witnesses From Various Parts of the Country Will Give Testimony.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Herbert Mader, better known by one of his numerous aliases, H. H. Holmes, was placed on trial in 10:30 o'clock this morning in the new city hall.

The specific charge to which he is called upon to answer is the murder of Benjamin E. Pitzel, and he has already officially declared himself not guilty. The revolting details of the many crimes with which Holmes' name has been directly or indirectly connected have been given such publicity, and the cold, implacable demeanor which these crimes have been charged out has been so frequently commented upon, that the trial will, probably, pass into history as the most sordid case known to the criminal annals of the western hemisphere. The commonwealth has already expended thousands of dollars in its efforts to bring the prisoner to summary justice, and there is an indication that should a conviction for murder in the first degree be obtained, he will be "railroaded" to the gallows.

Witnesses have been brought to this city from Boston, Chicago, Indianapolis, Irvington, Ind., and almost every city where Holmes is known to have lived at various times. What revelations these witnesses will make have been kept a profound secret by the prosecuting officers, but there are indications of a sensational development. Detective Goggin, who has been for months traveling extensively throughout the country in search of evidence of Holmes' guilt, will be one of the principal witnesses for the commonwealth. The skull and portions of the body of Pitzel, as well as the remains of the boy, Howard Pitzel, who is thought to have been murdered by Holmes in Minneapolis, will be exhibited during the course of the trial.

Hurry of the Case Along.

Judge Arnold is upon the bench, and he has already signified his intention of holding three sessions a day—morning, afternoon and night—so long as the persons interested can stand the strain. The prosecution is in the hands of District Attorney Graham and a corps of assistants, while the interests of the prisoner are guarded by Messrs. Shoemaker and Bolan, young members of the local bar.

Consequent upon the widespread publicity given the case, it is feared that several days will be occupied in securing a jury of men who have not already formed decided opinions concerning the guilt or innocence of Holmes.

It is impossible to learn, even approximately, the number of witnesses to be called on either side, but that there will be a goodly number is certain, with the precautions that will be taken to insure their entrance to the courtroom. Announcement has been made that only those who have business there will be admitted, and an increased corps of court officers, augmented by a detail of reserve policemen, will enforce this order at the doors.

May Quit the Brice Faction.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 28.—Ex-Governor Campbell may announce that he is no longer a candidate for governor on the Brice Democratic ticket. If he does this he will say that he will continue in the campaign on his own merits, with the endorsement of the real Democracy of Ohio. The threatened break results from Senator Brice's alleged failure to abide by an agreement said to have been made by him with Campbell and others to furnish $100,000 to the campaign fund.

Glass Works Will Start Up.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—At the conclusion of an animated debate in the chamber of deputies, in which M. Carmaux attempted to strike M. Jures, who had attacked the government for declining to intervene and arbitrate the labor dispute with the socialists at the Carmaux glass works, the minister of the interior prevailed upon the members of the Carmaux glass works to rekindle his furnaces and to provide work for several hundred men.

OPINIONS OF GRATEFUL AND LINGUISTIC PATIENTS.

Some of the Famous Dr. Sweet's Work Who Can Surpass It? Who Can Equal It?

Dr. Sweet, the Eminent Natural Home Surgeon and Herbar Physician, the Great Medical Expert in Lame and Obsolete Chronic Diseases Will Remain at North Adams One Entire Week, Beginning October 28th, and at Adams One Entire Week Beginning Nov. 4th. Invalids Receiving Treatment at Once Will Remain Under the Doctor's Personal Care.

Flow I have been afflicted for the past 12 years every adult habitant of Middleboro knows. For the last 6 months, my lameness had become so distressing that I was drawn over my head on a level with my hips, and could scarcely move on my feet out on a road or in a house on a log for support. For more than 12 years I have been severely afflicted with kidney, rheumatic and bladder difficulties, the latter of which, of 5 years' standing, has been helped by Dr. Sweet amazingly, and with a 1. I have been obliged to go about my work, where other men would have given up in despair. I had imagined that there was no cure for me, and had about given up all hope. After three weeks' treatment, I left off the band support, was able to walk a cane, with marked improvement in walking, and now after 5 weeks' treatment, I have thrown aside my staff and walk erect. The kidneys have recovered in a great measure their function, while the bladder is greatly improved. To see me walking erect again, after being so long a cripple, has created more talk in Middleboro than raising the dead to life. I am being congratulated on every hand. You all know me. I could not conceivably be so great in my gratitude and relief.

AUSTIN LOVELL.

Lame and crippled and unable to walk from birth, pronounced by the medical profession to be incurable, but that he could not be helped. The undersigned will kindly answer brief inquiries. Please enclose stamp.

DR. SWEET—Dear Sir: Your "Sweet Method" is truly wonderful. I would advise all who are afflicted to call upon you for help. You know how feeble our child was when he was first brought to you for treatment; he could not walk, could only creep, though 5 years of age; could only crawl on the floor when at play; he was afflicted with spinal trouble, infantile paralysis, also a very bad posterior curvature of the spine, giving a dwarfed appearance to his little back and chest. We had ceased to hope for anything better, as he had been treated regardless of expense, but yet of no avail; and now, after being under your treatment, he walks all the time; in fact, can take quite a walk and runs and plays with other children. You have done wonders for the child. Every one exclaims at the great change in his looks and actions, and asks what produced such an improvement. I tell them all, Dr. Sweet. We shall be pleased to offer words of encouragement to those similarly afflicted, in as strong language as we can employ. Believe us ever gratefully yours, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. BULLOCK, Lynn, Sept. 5.

Cure of a lad, wife of a lending merchant of Providence, R. I., of a confirmed case of Strumous Synovitis of the knee joint, in only three months.

30 Westminister St., Providence, R. I., Nov. 23, 1886.

Nov. 23, 1886.

Dr. PRESTON SWEET—Dear Sir: Some few months since I addressed you a letter, bearing to you the no doubt agreeable tidings of the complete and unequalled success attending your treatment of the case of Mrs. F. E. Tripp, and in the letter I requested of you the receipt and a testimonial of your skill and wonderful success connected therewith, as a slight token of our appreciation of your valuable services. Under ordinary circumstances, Mrs. Tripp would shrink from the publicity which attends the discussion of her case; but our gratitude to you and interest in others similarly afflicted must justify the action. Having had several years' experience with this case, which I believe to have been one of the most obstinate of joint diseases, I can fully attest that what you have done is the service rendered that restored the limb to its original usefulness, and the invalid to us as well as ever. In 1882, Mrs. Tripp first complained of the difficulty, and it passed unnoted. It became so troublesome that we were alarmed. Eminent physicians were consulted, but all to no purpose; it continued to grow worse until we consulted you. For years our life was a misery, and the joint so inflamed as to necessitate the use of crutches. While in Boston, we heard of the remarkable cures associated with your name. We went to see you, and upon examination, you assured us of success; you have made your record good after others had failed. June following, only three months after you took charge of the case, she could walk as well as ever; and for this priceless service, she offers this as small tribute of gratitude, and thanks.

A. E. TRIPP.

DR. SWEET—Dear Sir: I write you at this time to let you know how thankful Mrs. I. and myself are that I made your acquaintance last spring; and we both feel that you have raised her from the dead, for I have no doubt that she would not have lived until this time if you had not treated her case as you did. After more than three (3) years' suffering, and finally so she could not walk with crutches from one room to another, you took hold of the case and caused the terrible joints she had in the marrow of her bones, in both limbs to cease, and by your personal effort and hard labor you made the limbs straight, which were so bent she could hardly touch the floor. This was done in less than six months' treatment. She has used no crutches or cane for the past six weeks, and goes to call on her neighbors, and enjoys life again. We know of your success, and hope you may be aided many years to treat and cure the many cases that are all over the country. I have sent many letters to you, and I know they have been helped. Trusting you and your family are well and that we may see you again, I remain, respectfully yours, C. R. LABAREE.

Dr. PRESTON SWEET—Dear Sir: I wish to advise you of the rapid recovery of Mrs. Labaree since she has had your remedies and taken them according to your directions. She now says that she has felt better for the past month than she has for 6 years, and considers herself entirely cured from the lameness which obliged her to use crutches for 3 years, and has more strength than she has had of all middle-aged ladies, and all this after having suffered so long and experienced for some 3 years before you saw her. This miraculous cure can be testified to by 100 citizens of Webster, Mass., and anyone can find the truth of it by seeing me personally, or by letter. Never give up until you have seen Dr. Preston Sweet, of Boston.

Respectfully, C. R. LABAREE.

Case I.

Flow I have been afflicted for the past 12 years every adult habitant of Middleboro knows. For the last 6 months, my lameness had become so distressing that I was drawn over my head on a level with my hips, and could scarcely move on my feet out on a road or in a house on a log for support. For more than 12 years I have been severely afflicted with kidney, rheumatic and bladder difficulties, the latter of which, of 5 years' standing, has been helped by Dr. Sweet amazingly, and with a 1. I have been obliged to go about my work, where other men would have given up in despair. I had imagined that there was no cure for me, and had about given up all hope. After three weeks' treatment, I left off the band support, was able to walk a cane, with marked improvement in walking, and now after 5 weeks' treatment, I have thrown aside my staff and walk erect. The kidneys have recovered in a great measure their function, while the bladder is greatly improved. To see me walking erect again, after being so long a cripple, has created more talk in Middleboro than raising the dead to life. I am being congratulated on every hand. You all know me. I could not conceivably be so great in my gratitude and relief.

AUSTIN LOVELL.

Lame and crippled and unable to walk from birth, pronounced by the medical profession to be incurable, but that he could not be helped. The undersigned will kindly answer brief inquiries. Please enclose stamp.

DR. SWEET—Dear Sir: Your "Sweet Method" is truly wonderful. I would advise all who are afflicted to call upon you for help. You know how feeble our child was when he was first brought to you for treatment; he could not walk, could only creep, though 5 years of age; could only crawl on the floor when at play; he was afflicted with spinal trouble, infantile paralysis, also a very bad posterior curvature of the spine, giving a dwarfed appearance to his little back and chest. We had ceased to hope for anything better, as he had been treated regardless of expense, but yet of no avail; and now, after being under your treatment, he walks all the time; in fact, can take quite a walk and runs and plays with other children. You have done wonders for the child. Every one exclaims at the great change in his looks and actions, and asks what produced such an improvement. I tell them all, Dr. Sweet. We shall be pleased to offer words of encouragement to those similarly afflicted, in as strong language as we can employ. Believe us ever gratefully yours, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. BULLOCK, Lynn, Sept. 5.
